Holly McDede, A San José Teacher Is Charged with Sexual Abuse. His School District Knew of Alleged Misconduct a Decade Ago, KQED (June 12, 2023), <https://www.kqed.org/news/11952597/a-san-jose-teacher-is-charged-with-sexual-abuse-his-school-district-knew-of-alleged-misconduct-a-decade-ago>..... 16

1 I. INTRODUCTION

2 This case is about the people’s constitutional right to disclosure of records relating to 3 alleged misconduct of a former public-school employee. The public has a compelling interest in 4 disclosure of misconduct records for such employees, who hold special positions of trust in the 5 community and are charged with the care of its children.

6 John Doe resigned from the Mill Valley School District (the “District”) during the 7 District’s investigation of his actions that it deems “well-founded and constitut[ed] ‘boundary 8 crossing or grooming behavior.’” Resp’t’s Opp’n Pet’r’s Mot. Prelim. Inj. 10:2–3. Holly McDede, 9 a freelance reporter, made a request for public records that covers documents about the District’s 10 investigation into Doe’s conduct. The records at issue are subject to disclosure under the 11 California Constitution and California Public Records Act (the “CPRA”). For employees such as 12 Doe, it is settled law that any privacy interest in personnel records must yield to the people’s right 13 to disclosure of public records when: (1) the government imposes discipline for misconduct, (2) 14 the government finds misconduct allegations to be true, or (3) the records relate to well-founded 15 and substantial allegations of misconduct, as distinct from baseless or trivial allegations.

16 The undisputed misconduct at issue here is not baseless or trivial, but a substantial 17 escalating pattern of inappropriate behavior that made staff and community members 18 uncomfortable and jeopardized their health, and which Doe failed to correct, regardless of his 19 supposedly innocent subjective intent. He admits to staring silently at a co-worker, touching two 20 students, failing to use his mask consistently during the COVID-19 pandemic, and commenting 21 about “sex in the booty hole” on a Zoom call. He fails to materially dispute additional incidents 22 that involve berating students.

23 After the District said it would disclose certain records, Doe filed this action seeking to 24 prevent disclosure. The Court issued a nonbinding preliminary injunction against disclosure to 25 preserve the status quo and is now deciding whether to grant a writ of mandate that would 26 permanently hide these records from public scrutiny. The Court should deny that request because 27 nothing argued by Doe defeats the people’s constitutional right to disclosure of public records that 28 reflect discipline imposed on him, contain findings that he committed misconduct, or show

1 reasonable cause to believe he committed substantial misconduct. The public has a right to assess 2 the records and the District's actions for itself; the law does not require blind trust in the District's 3 official story or Doe's self-serving explanations of his disturbing behavior.

4 To adopt Doe's position that only allegations of "sexual" or "violent" conduct can be 5 deemed substantial would lead to absurd and unacceptable consequences. Under Doe's theory, the 6 people would have no right to disclosure of records that document well-founded allegations of 7 conduct such as embezzling public funds or discriminating against students based on race or 8 disability, to take only a few examples. The CPRA and California Constitution cannot be 9 construed to condone such absurdity. This Court must instead follow controlling precedent that 10 requires disclosure of all records showing reasonable cause to believe that any nontrivial 11 misconduct occurred. On the undisputed facts, Doe's admitted misconduct was far from trivial, 12 and therefore the Court should deny his motion and allow the District to release the public records 13 at issue.

14 II. FACTS

15 John Doe was previously employed in the District; he resigned during an investigation into 16 his conduct. Doe Decl. Supp. Pet'r's Mot. Jdg. ¶¶ 17, 20. On June 7, 2024, Holly McDede, 17 working as a freelance reporter, sought public records from MVSD "related to any and all claims 18 of misconduct against teachers or other school employees from 2014 to the date this request is 19 fulfilled." McDede Decl. ¶ 2 & Ex. 1. On June 28, 2024, McDede updated the request to seek 20 "public records related to claims of sexual harassment, sexual assault, or boundary crossing or 21 grooming behavior made regarding teachers or other school employees" as well as "claims of 22 sexual harassment, sexual assault, or grooming made to the California Commission on Teacher 23 Credentialing." McDede Decl. ¶ 4 & Ex. 2.

24 On July 8, 2024, the District informed McDede that it interpreted her request as one for 25 "records that satisfy the requirement that the information sought is both of a substantial nature and 26 is well-founded." McDede Decl. ¶ 6 & Ex. 3. The District informed McDede that it had responsive 27 records, which it would review and disclose, to the extent they were subject to disclosure, after 28 sending notices to employees or former employees involved. Id. On August 23, 2024, the District

1 notified Doe regarding the option to oppose disclosure. Boyd Decl. Supp. Pet’r’s Mot. Jdg. ¶ 4; 2 see Marken v. Santa Monica-Malibu Unified Sch. Dist., 202 Cal. App. 4th 1250 (2012).

3 The records at issue have been lodged under seal, and therefore McDede must rely on 4 Doe’s characterization of the records and underlying incidents, which may be self-serving.
5 Although he denies touching a student’s thigh and engaging in “manspreading,” Doe does not 6 materially dispute the underlying facts of the following allegations against him:

- 7 • Staring at a female employee “by looking into her eyes and blinking silently for about 8 10 seconds” and, on the same day, blocking a doorway to the same female employee 9 and another staff member by “standing in the middle of the kitchen doorway with one 10 arm leaning on the door frame” and forcing them “to exit underneath his arm.” 11 Doe also “did not consistently wear his face mask indoors and while in close proximity 12 to staff during the Covid-19 pandemic.” These events led to “a Conference Summary 13 memorandum which later became a written warning.”
- 14 • “[T]ouching the braided hair of a female African-American student,” resulting in “the 15 directive that failure to address the conduct could result in a written warning.”
- 16 • Walking down a hallway “with his arm around a male student’s shoulder,” again 17 resulting in “the directive that failure to address the conduct could result in a written 18 warning.”
- 19 • Referring to “having sex in the booty hole” during a Zoom meeting, which led to a 20 “Written Warning.”
- 21 • Berating “students and a staff member by using a harsh and elevated tone of voice.”
22 Doe “resigned prior to learning of this complaint.”

23 Pet’r’s Mot. Jdg. 3–5. Doe was placed on administrative leave pending investigation of his actions 24 and resigned during the investigation. Id. 6:4–5.

25 III. LEGAL STANDARD

26 The Court may issue a writ of mandate only to enforce a clear, unequivocal, and 27 mandatory duty. L.A. Waterkeeper v. State Water Res. Control Bd., 92 Cal. App. 5th 230, 265–66
28 (2023). The Court’s order granting a preliminary injunction was issued to preserve the status quo

1 pending final decision on the merits and does not bind the Court in deciding this motion.
2 Bomberger v. McKelvey, 35 Cal. 2d 607, 612 (1950); Jomicra, Inc. v. Cal. Mobile Home Dealers
3 Ass’n, 12 Cal. App. 3d 396, 402 (1970).

4 IV. ARGUMENT

5 A. Access to Public Records is Guaranteed by the California Constitution.

6 “Openness in government is essential to the functioning of a democracy.” Int’l Fed’n of 7 Pro. & Tech. Eng’rs, Local 21 v. Superior Ct., 42 Cal. 4th 319, 328 (2007) [hereinafter Local 21].
8 To that end, access to public records is a constitutional right in California. “The people have the 9 right of access to information concerning the conduct of the people’s business, and, therefore . . .
10 the writings of public officials and agencies shall be open to public scrutiny. . . . In order to ensure 11 public access to . . . the writings of public officials and agencies, . . . each local agency is hereby 12 required to comply with the California Public Records Act.” Cal. Const. art. I, § 3(b)(1), (7).

13 The CPRA reflects “legislative impatience with secrecy in government,” for “secrecy is 14 antithetical to a democratic system of ‘government of the people, by the people [and] for the 15 people.’” San Gabriel Trib. v. Superior Ct., 143 Cal. App. 3d 762, 771–72 (1983) (alteration in 16 original) (quoting Opinion No. 67-144, 53 Ops. Cal. Atty. Gen. 136, 143 (1970)). As the CPRA 17 declares, “access to information concerning the conduct of the people’s business is a fundamental 18 and necessary right of every person in this state.” Gov’t Code § 7921.000.

19 The District is subject to the CPRA and must provide public records upon request unless it 20 asserts and proves the records are exempt from disclosure. Gov’t Code §§ 7920.510(d), 21 7920.525(a), 7922.000, 7922.530(a). It is undisputed that the documents McDede requested are 22 public records, and the District is not seeking to prevent their disclosure in their entirety.

23 B. Doe Must Prove Disclosure of the Records at Issue is Prohibited by Law.

24 In bringing this action to preclude disclosure, Doe cannot merely contend the records at 25 issue might qualify for an exemption under the CPRA. The CPRA’s exemptions “are permissive, 26 not mandatory” and thus “allow nondisclosure but do not prohibit disclosure.” Amgen Inc. v. Cal.
27 Corr. Health Care Servs., 47 Cal. App. 5th 716, 732 (2020) (citation omitted); see also Gov’t 28 Code § 7921.500. The discretion to assert exemptions belongs to the District, not Doe, and the 1 District cannot be compelled to exercise discretion “in a particular manner.” Marken, 202 Cal.

2 App. 4th at 1266.

3 Because the District “has the discretion to invoke an exemption” and an injunction “cannot 4 be used to control an exercise of discretion,” Doe “must show disclosure is otherwise prohibited 5 by law, that is, that the government agency lacks discretion to disclose” the records at issue.
6 Amgen, 47 Cal. App. 5th at 732 (citations and internal quotation marks omitted). This case does 7 not involve records that agencies may “have no discretion to disclose,” such as “pupil records.”
8 Marken, 202 Cal. App. 4th at 1266 n.12. Student privacy laws do not prevent disclosure of records 9 about staff misconduct. BRV, Inc. v. Superior Ct., 143 Cal. App. 4th 742, 754–55 (2006).
10 Doe asserts his own interest in privacy, which cannot defeat the people’s right to disclosure of the 11 records at issue in this case, for the reasons discussed below.

12 C. The People’s Constitutional Right to Disclosure Can Outweigh any Privacy 13 Interests Doe Might Possess.

14 Any privacy interests claimed by Doe cannot unconditionally preclude disclosure of the 15 records at issue. Such privacy interests are not absolute. Marken, 202 Cal. App. 4th at 1271 (“[A]n 16 ‘[i]nvasion of a privacy interest is not a violation of the state constitutional right to privacy if the 17 invasion is justified by a competing interest.’”) (quoting Jacob B. v. County of Shasta, 40 Cal. 4th 18 948, 961 (2007) (“The constitutional right to privacy has never been absolute; it is subject to a 19 balancing of interests.”)). The “strong public policy supporting transparency in government” that 20 is “grounded in both the California Constitution and the CPRA” can “outweigh constitutional 21 privacy interests” and require disclosure of public records. Id. (citations omitted).

22 The CPRA contains an exemption for “personnel, medical, or similar files, the disclosure 23 of which would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.” Gov’t Code § 7927.700.
24 This exemption parallels the CPRA’s catchall exemption, Gov’t Code § 7922.000, and balances 25 any privacy interests against the public’s interest in disclosure. Versaci v. Superior Ct., 127 Cal.
26 App. 4th 805, 818 (2005); Braun v. City of Taft, 154 Cal. App. 3d 332, 345 (1984). To the extent 27 the records at issue do not fall within the personnel files exemption, their disclosure cannot violate 28 the constitutional right to privacy. Marken, 202 Cal. App. 4th at 1271 n.18. Under settled law, the

1 records at issue do not qualify for this exemption to the extent they merely document Doe's 2 employment, reflect discipline imposed on him, contain findings that he committed misconduct, or 3 relate to well-founded allegations of substantial misconduct against Doe, and therefore disclosure 4 of such records cannot invade Doe's right to privacy.

5 D. Any Records Documenting Doe's Employment Must Be Disclosed.

6 To the extent any of the records at issue are unconnected to misconduct allegations and 7 merely show the fact and duration of Doe's employment, his salary, and his professional 8 background, as well as his name, their disclosure cannot invade any privacy rights. Local 21, 42 9 Cal. 4th at 333 (requiring disclosure of public employees' names and salaries due to "the strong 10 public interest in knowing how the government spends its money"); Eskaton Monterey Hosp. v.
11 Myers, 134 Cal. App. 3d 788, 794 (1982) (noting "information as to the education, training, 12 experience, awards, previous positions and publications of [the employee]. . . . is routinely 13 presented in both professional and social settings, is relatively innocuous and implicates no 14 applicable privacy or public policy exemption").

15 E. The Public Is Entitled to Disclosure of Records Related to Complaints of 16 Misconduct that the District Found True or Imposed Discipline to Remedy.

17 With respect to records relating to complaints about Doe, misconduct of public employees 18 is "undoubtedly an issue of public interest." See Collondrez v. City of Rio Vista, 61 Cal. App. 5th 19 1039, 1050 (2021). The public has a compelling interest in disclosure of records that "shed light 20 on the public agency's performance of its duty" to respond to such complaints, Versaci, 127 Cal.
21 App. 4th at 820 (citation omitted), and show "whether the law is being properly applied or carried 22 out in an evenhanded manner." CBS, Inc. v. Block, 42 Cal. 3d 646, 656 (1986). The right to 23 transparency "safeguard[s] the accountability of government to the public." Reg. Div. of Freedom 24 Newspapers v. County of Orange, 158 Cal. App. 3d 893, 901 (1984) (citation omitted).

25 California law is clear that "where the charges are found true, or discipline is imposed" on 26 a public employee such as Doe, the relevant records must be disclosed. Am. Fed'n of State, Cnty.
27 & Mun. Emps. v. Regents of Univ. of Cal., 80 Cal. App. 3d 913, 918 (1978) [hereinafter AFSCME] 28 (emphasis added). "In such cases a member of the public is entitled to information about the

1 complaint, the discipline, and the information upon which it was based.” Id. (citation and 2 quotation marks omitted). Accordingly, if “the complaint has been upheld by the agency involved 3 or discipline imposed, even if only a private reproof, it must be disclosed,” regardless of the 4 nature of the misconduct. Marken, 202 Cal. App. 4th at 1275 (citation omitted) (emphasis added).

5 Even if no formal discipline was imposed on Doe, discipline is not required to meet this 6 standard. It is sufficient if charges are found true. Doe admits that the District found the complaint 7 of inconsistent face mask usage true. Pet’r’s Mot. Jdg. 4:7–8 (“The sole “findings” were 8 inconsistent face mask usage and a directive to immediately improve effective communication and 9 relationships due to the reported staff discomfort.”). Without access to the records at issue, 10 McDede cannot verify if the District found any of the other allegations to be true. Except for the 11 thigh-touching and manspreading incidents, Doe does not dispute that the underlying events 12 occurred. The Court is respectfully requested to review the records in camera to determine if the 13 District found the other charges to be true and deny the writ of mandate as to records relating to 14 inconsistent face mask usage.¹

15 As for discipline, Doe admits he received “two written warnings.” Pet’r’s Mot. Jdg. 11:7– 16 9. He also admits he received “a directive to immediately improve effective communication and 17 relationships due to the reported staff discomfort,” as to the silent accolades/doorway 18 standing/face mask incidents and “directive[s] that failure to address the conduct could result in a 19 written warning,” as to the manspreading, hair touching, and shoulder-touching incidents. Pet’r’s 20 Mot. Jdg. 4:7–8, 4:18–19, 4:25–5:1, 5:7.

21 Doe contends that only a “reprimand,” not a “warning,” is sufficient to amount to 22 “discipline” for purposes of disclosure, but the cases he cites are not controlling. Pet’r’s Mot. Jdg.
23 11:10–17. The cases Doe cites do not arise “[w]ithin the meaning of Marken” or “under the 24 CPRA,” as he suggests, or even under the right to privacy. Id. Instead, these cases arise in the 25 distinct context of public employment law, as to whether the government sufficiently justified 26

27 ¹ The District “disputes [Doe’s] claim that he was never disciplined for alleged misconduct. The 28 facts show that Petitioner elected to resign . . . in response to the allegations against him.” Resp’t’s Opp’n Mot. Prelim. Inj. 7.

1 adverse employment actions. See Paratransit, Inc. v. Unemployment Ins. Appeals Bd., 59 Cal. 4th 2 551, 561 (2014) (noting that in the context of a claim for unemployment insurance, while 3 “insubordination amounting to misconduct generally entails ‘cumulative acts with prior 4 reprimands or warnings, . . . a single act without prior reprimands or warnings can be 5 insubordinate if the act is substantially detrimental to the employer’s interest.”) (cleaned up); 6 Woodland Joint Unified Sch. Dist. v. Comm’n on Pro. Competence, 2 Cal. App. 4th 1429, 1455– 7 56 (1992) (holding a teacher’s conduct, which included insulting students, displaying 8 insubordination to administrators, and bullying other teachers, rendered him unfit to teach and that 9 he was aware such actions were wrongful even though he was not first “warned, reprimanded, or 10 disciplined concerning his conduct”); Catricala v. State Pers. Bd., 43 Cal. App. 3d 642, 647–48 11 (1974) (holding a demotion was an excessive punishment for first offense of misusing a sick day 12 and noting “that the State Personnel Guide to Employee Discipline, . . . , suggests penalties for a 13 first offense . . . of a ‘warning’ and a maximum of a ‘letter of reprimand.’”).

14 Nor do these cases expressly stand for the proposition that a “reprimand” is a form of 15 discipline but a “warning” is not, even in the employment-law context. See People v. Casper, 33 16 Cal. 4th 38, 43 (2004) (“It is axiomatic that cases are not authority for propositions not 17 considered.”). Accordingly, those cases do not preclude a holding that the warnings and directives 18 Doe received were sufficient “reproval” to require disclosure of public records. See Marken, 202 19 Cal. App. 4th at 1275. The Court is respectfully requested to deny the writ of mandate Doe seeks 20 as to records relating to any incidents for which the District imposed discipline on him, as 21 determined by the Court’s in camera review.

22 F. The Public Is Entitled to Disclosure of Records that Contain Reasonable 23 Grounds to Believe Doe Committed Substantial Misconduct.

24 In any event, while findings of misconduct and discipline are sufficient to require 25 disclosure, they are not necessary. Although “there is a strong policy for disclosure of true 26 charges,” the relevant “cases do not stand for the premise that either a finding of the truth of the 27 complaint contained in the personnel records or the imposition of employee discipline is a 28 prerequisite to disclosure.” Bakersfield City Sch. Dist. v. Superior Ct., 118 Cal. App. 4th 1041,

1 1045 (2004). As the Court of Appeal held, even in the absence of discipline or findings of truth, 2 “where complaints of a public employee’s wrongdoing and resulting disciplinary investigation 3 reveal allegations of a substantial nature, as distinct from baseless or trivial, and there is 4 reasonable cause to believe the complaint is well founded, public employee privacy must give way 5 to the public’s right to know.” Id. (citation omitted).

6 Therefore, if the records “reveal sufficient indicia of reliability to support a reasonable 7 conclusion that the complaint was well founded” and substantial, disclosure cannot be enjoined.
8 Id. at 1047; see also Marken, 202 Cal. App. 4th at 1272 (holding that “a proper reconciliation 9 between the right to information embodied in the CPRA and the constitutional right to privacy” 10 upholds “the right of public access” when alleged misconduct is of “substantial nature” and “there 11 is reasonable cause to believe the complaint to be well founded”). As the Court of Appeal 12 recognized in Bakersfield City School District, “both trial and appellate courts, working with little 13 or nothing more than written records, are ill-equipped to determine the veracity of the complaint.” 14 118 Cal. App. 4th 1041 at 1047. As such, the “indicia of reliability” needed to support reasonable 15 cause do not require certainty or strong proof. See id. The terms “reasonable cause” and “probable 16 cause” are generally “synonymous.” Carroll v. State, 217 Cal. App. 3d 134, 141 (1990).
17 Therefore, this Court need only find there was probable cause to believe the incidents occurred.

18 That standard is met here. As noted above, Doe does not dispute the facts of most of the 19 incidents at issue. Instead, he disputes only how to characterize them, but that goes to the question 20 whether they are substantial allegations, not whether there is reasonable cause to believe the 21 events in question occurred. Accordingly, those incidents are well founded in fact. The District has 22 noted an additional indicator of reliability in that there “were a significant number of complaints 23 brought forth against Doe from various community members, including staff, and parents of 24 students.” Resp’t’s Opp’n Pet’r’s Mot. Prelim. Inj. 11:5–7. The Court may also consider the fact 25 that Doe resigned during the investigation into his conduct to be an indicator of reliability. See 26 Doe Decl. Supp. Pet’r’s Mot. Jdg. ¶¶ 17, 20. The Court is respectfully requested to review the 27 records in camera to verify reasonable cause to believe the disputed incidents occurred.
28 Bakersfield City Sch. Dist., 118 Cal. App. 4th at 1047 (holding courts “are required to examine the

1 documents presented to determine whether they reveal sufficient indicia of reliability to support a 2 reasonable conclusion that the complaint was well founded”).

3 Doe is mistaken that only “allegations of sexual-type conduct, threats of violence, and 4 violence” qualify as “substantial.” Associated Chino Tchrs. v. Chino Valley Unified Sch. Dist., 30 5 Cal. App. 5th 530, 543 (2018). Such conduct is sufficient to make allegations substantial, but it is 6 not necessary. Cf. Iloh v. Regents of Univ. of Cal., 87 Cal. App. 5th 513, 526–27 (2023) (ordering 7 disclosure of records related to alleged plagiarism); Doe v. Regents of Univ. of Cal., 102 Cal. App.
8 5th 766, 769–70, 777 (2024) (rejecting a preliminary injunction against disclosure in a reverse-9 CPRA case of a report that concluded University of California professors “engaged in improper 10 governmental activities,” violated conflict-of-interest laws, and retaliated against another faculty 11 member); AFSCME, 80 Cal. App. 3d at 916, 918–19 (ordering disclosure of portions of an audit-
12 investigation report of alleged financial misconduct by employees of the University of California 13 at San Francisco); Woodland Joint Unified Sch. Dist., 2 Cal. App. 4th at 1434–35, 1456–57 14 (construing California Education Code section 44932 and holding that misconduct including 15 insulting students, bullying other teachers, and displaying insubordination was substantial enough 16 to dismiss a teacher for “evident unfitness for service” without prior warning).

17 To make an allegation “substantial,” it is necessary only that it is not “baseless or trivial.” 18 Bakersfield City Sch. Dist., 118 Cal. App. 4th at 1045. While Doe’s behavior may not have been 19 as egregious as the conduct at issue in Marken or Bakersfield City School District, it is far from 20 “trivial.” This is not a minor case about an employee borrowing a few office supplies for personal 21 use or clocking in five minutes late.

22 On the undisputed facts, Doe’s behavior involved an escalating series of intimidating or 23 inappropriate actions. He admits that he stared at a colleague, in her office and without speaking, 24 for about 10 seconds, and made her uncomfortable. Doe Decl. Supp. Pet’r’s Mot. Jdg. ¶ 5. He 25 admits that he failed to wear his face mask consistently during the COVID-19 pandemic, which 26 jeopardized public health and the health of staff, students, and their families, and fails to materially 27 dispute that he forced the same colleague he stared at to walk under his arm to exit a door. Id. ¶¶ 28 5–7. He admits to touching multiple students — one on the hair and another on the shoulder —

1 and receiving directives to correct his conduct in both instances. Id. ¶¶ 10–11; Pet’r’s Mot. Jdg.
2 4:25–5:7. He admits to repeating a comment about “sex in the booty hole” on a Zoom call, a 3 recording of which was circulated to District families and staff. Doe Decl. Supp. Pet’r’s Mot. Jdg.
4 ¶¶ 12–13. He avers nothing regarding an incident of berating students, failing to materially dispute 5 it. See generally Doe Decl. Supp. Pet’r’s Mot. Jdg.

6 Taken as a whole, these kinds of actions are not trivial, because, as reported in the media, 7 they can be early warning signs of more egregious conduct in the future. See, e.g., Holly McDede, 8 A San José Teacher Is Charged with Sexual Abuse. His School District Knew of Alleged 9 Misconduct a Decade Ago, KQED (June 12, 2023), https://www.kqed.org/news/11952597/a-san-
10 jose-teacher-is-charged-with-sexual-abuse-his-school-district-knew-of-alleged-misconduct-a- 11 decade-ago. The public has a compelling interest in assessing the extent to which school districts 12 respond to substantial early warning signs like the incidents at issue here before they can escalate 13 to more egregious abuse and leave irrevocable trauma and distrust in the community.

14 To construe the test for “substantial misconduct” as limited to sexual or violent activities 15 would generate absurd consequences and hamper the public’s ability to hold its government 16 accountable. In addition to the type of escalating pattern of inappropriate or boundary-crossing 17 behaviors at issue in this case, there are numerous additional forms of substantial misconduct that 18 may not be characterized as “sexual or violent” but nonetheless command a powerful public 19 interest in disclosure to hold government accountable. For example, a public-school employee 20 could have allegedly engaged in financial misconduct and embezzled millions in taxpayer funds or 21 extorted unauthorized fees from students. A public-school employee could also engage in 22 intentional discrimination, such as by referring to students by racial slurs, refusing to allow 23 minority students to participate in certain activities, or mocking students who use wheelchairs.
24 Alternatively, a public-school employee could commit a substantial dereliction of duty by failing 25 to show up for work repeatedly and without excuse or warning. In any of these examples, the 26 people have a compelling interest in monitoring the government’s performance of its duty to 27 protect their community from these nontrivial abuses of public power, and the employee’s privacy 28 interests must yield so long as there is reasonable cause that the allegations are well founded in

1 fact. Under Doe’s position, the people would have no right to disclosure of records documenting 2 reasonable grounds to believe that public school employees committed embezzlement or egregious 3 discrimination. The CPRA and California Constitution cannot be construed to result in such 4 “absurd consequences.” Sierra Club, 57 Cal. 4th at 165.

5 Further, the court must measure what is “substantial” misconduct from its own objective 6 assessment of whether the alleged conduct is nontrivial, rather than hinging on the subjective 7 intent of the accused. Limiting the definition of “substantial misconduct” to sexual or violent 8 misconduct would invite public employees facing well-founded allegations of sexual harassment 9 to bog down the courts with mini trials on whether they subjectively acted with sexual or violent 10 intent before determining the public’s right of access, impairing the Legislature’s goal of prompt 11 disclosure. See Filarsky v. Superior Ct., 28 Cal. 4th 419, 427 (2002) (“[T]he Act’s provision 12 regarding a public agency’s obligation to act promptly upon receiving a request for disclosure, the 13 provision directing the trial court in a proceeding under the Act to reach a decision as soon as 14 possible, and the provision for expedited appellate review all reflect a clear legislative intent that 15 the determination of the obligation to disclose records requested from a public agency be made 16 expeditiously.”) (citations omitted).

17 Although Doe also contends the District did not invoke its policies against sexual 18 misconduct or harassment during its interactions with him, this Court must make its own judgment 19 on whether the allegations were substantial for purposes of requiring disclosure of the records at 20 issue. While the District may have accepted innocent explanations for certain incidents in 21 isolation, once the allegations continued and the District was able to assess the full pattern of 22 behavior, it accurately determined the events to involve substantial “boundary crossing or 23 grooming behavior.” Similarly, this Court is not bound by the decision of the Committee of 24 Credentials to take no adverse action against Doe. For purposes of this case, the issue is whether 25 the allegations against Doe are substantial, or more than merely trivial, which does not require the 26 revocation of his credential.

27 Even if the Court accepted Doe’s limitation on “substantial” misconduct to only “sexual-28 type” or violent conduct, the allegations against Doe may still be “substantial” when taken

1 together under such a definition, regardless of Doe’s supposedly innocent explanations. As the 2 District emphasized in its opposition to the preliminary injunction, “Grooming behavior typically 3 involves a pattern of behavior rather than isolated incidents. Doe’s conduct, as accurately outlined 4 in the Motion, demonstrates a pattern of behavior, where viewed holistically, reveals its sexual 5 nature and intent. As such, these allegations involve sexual-type conduct, and thus satisfy the 6 ‘substantial’ prong of the Marken test.” Resp’t’s Opp’n. Mot. Prelim. Inj. 10:17–20; see also 7 Marken, 202 Cal. App. 4th at 1274 (holding the misconduct was “substantial” notwithstanding 8 plaintiff’s argument that the superior court had characterized the conduct as “‘probably on the 9 lowest end of the spectrum’ in terms of allegations of sexual harassment”).

10 This case is not like Associated Chino Teachers, in which the behavior at issue arose from 11 the unique context of competitive high school sports and the court found that a coach’s conduct 12 was “objectively reasonable” because it was “nothing more than what most dedicated coaches do 13 to motivate players, maintain discipline and team morale, and push athletes toward their full 14 potential.” 30 Cal. App. 5th at 543. Taken as a whole, Doe’s undisputed conduct was far from 15 objectively reasonable or trivial in a very different context from competitive athletics. In these 16 circumstances, Doe cannot prove that his alleged privacy interests clearly outweigh the public’s 17 compelling interest in disclosure.

18 How school districts respond to behavior such as Doe’s is undoubtedly a matter of public 19 concern. The release of the records requested by McDede can help examine what actions the 20 District took to address or prevent harm or misconduct in its schools. Disclosure of the records at 21 issue is justified by the public’s compelling interest in assessing whether and to what extent the 22 District properly responded to Doe’s undisputed conduct. Preventing violence and sexual harm or 23 misconduct before it happens is essential to children’s safety. Thus, the requested records are 24 extremely valuable to the public, and the constitutional right to public disclosure outweighs Doe’s 25 alleged privacy interests.

1 V. CONCLUSION

2 For the foregoing reasons, the Court is respectfully requested to deny Doe's motion for 3 judgment to issue the writ of mandate and allow the District to disclose public records requested 4 by McDede.

Good morning,

Thank you for your request for clarification.

I can narrow this request to public records related to claims of sexual harassment, sexual assault, or boundary crossing or grooming behavior made regarding teachers or other school employees.

I can similarly narrow my request for records involving the Teacher Credentialing Commission, which would narrow that part of the request to claims of sexual harassment, sexual assault, or grooming made to the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing from 2014 to the date this request is fulfilled.

Please let me know if this helps.

Such public records should include, but not be limited to, all complaints; allegations; claims; investigatory reports; analyses; summaries; memoranda and/or notes; interview recordings; transcripts and/or notes; reviews; emails, text or other electronic messages, voicemails, and/or other communications and/or correspondence; determinations; decisions; orders; resignation letters; employment reclassification documents; offers in compromise and/or settlement agreements; termination and/or transfer papers; letters of reproof and/or other disciplinary actions, whether imposed or not; referrals to law enforcement, administrative, and/or licensing agencies, departments, and/or bodies; appeals; court filings and/or rulings; and all similar materials notwithstanding the use of other terminology, nomenclature, or categorization by this or other involved public agencies.

I am also requesting records related to any and all reports to the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing from 2014 to the date this request is fulfilled.”

Re: California Public Records Act Request

Dear Holly McDede:

As you were previously informed, our firm represents the Mill Valley School District (“District”), which is in receipt of your California Public Records Act (“CPRA”) (Gov. Code, § 7920.000 et seq.) request dated June 7, 2024, for specified records of the District. You specifically requested:

“[A]ll public records related to any and all claims of misconduct against teachers or other school employees from 2014 to the date this request is fulfilled.

Such public records should include, but not be limited to, all complaints; allegations; claims; investigatory reports; analyses; summaries; memoranda and/or notes; interview recordings; transcripts and/or notes; reviews; emails, text or other electronic messages, voicemails, and/or other communications and/or correspondence; determinations; decisions; orders; resignation letters; employment reclassification documents; offers in compromise and/or settlement agreements; termination and/or transfer papers; letters of reproof and/or other disciplinary actions, whether imposed or not; referrals to law enforcement, administrative, and/or licensing agencies, departments, and/or bodies; appeals; court filings and/or rulings; and all similar materials notwithstanding the use of other terminology, nomenclature, or categorization by this or other involved public agencies.

I am also requesting records related to any and all reports to the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing from 2014 to the date this request is fulfilled.”

In our June 14, 2024, correspondence, we sought, pursuant to Government Code section 7922.600, subdivision (a), subsection (1), clarifications regarding your request. We had

Limited Liability Partnership

One Capitol Mall, Suite 640 Sacramento, California 95814 Tel 916-329-7433 Fax 916-329-9050

requested that you contact Lindsey Soares at lsoares@lozanosmith.com, to set up a mutually agreeable time to further discuss the necessary clarifications.

On June 28, 2024, you responded to our correspondence with the following clarified request:

I can narrow this request to public records related to claims of sexual harassment, sexual assault, or boundary crossing or grooming behavior made regarding teachers or other school employees.

I can similarly narrow my request for records involving the Teacher Credentialing Commission, which would narrow that part of the request to claims of sexual harassment, sexual assault, or grooming made to the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing from 2014 to the date this request is fulfilled.

We interpret the use of the term “claims” in relation to the above-mentioned misconduct as records that satisfy the requirement that the information sought is both of a substantial nature and well-founded. (See American Federation v. Regents of University of California (1978) 80 Cal.App.3d 913; see also Associated Chino Teachers v. Chino Valley Unified School District (2018) 30 Cal.App.5th 530.) As a result, we believe the following exemptions are applicable to the request:

- Preliminary drafts, notes, or interagency or intra-agency memoranda that are not retained by the public agency in the ordinary course of business, if the public interest in withholding those records clearly outweighs the public interest in disclosure. (Gov. Code, § 7927.500.)
- Personnel, personal contact information, medical, or similar files, the disclosure of which would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. (Gov. Code, §§ 7927.700 and 7927.705.)
- Records may also be exempt under the “deliberative process privilege” to protect the decision-making processes of government agencies to promote candid discussion within the agency. (Gov. Code, § 7922.000; Caldecott v. Superior Court (2015) 243 Cal.App.4th 212, 225.)
- Documents revealing information where the public’s interest in obtaining the records is clearly outweighed by the public’s interest in the District not disclosing the requested information. (Gov. Code, § 7922.000(a).)

Accordingly, our initial review indicates the District has responsive records in its possession. For those records that are subject to disclosure, we anticipate the records will be made available to you once the District has had a reasonable time to conduct a search, identify responsive records, and send the legally required notices to the employees or former employees involved. (See Marken v. Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School District (2012) 202 Cal.App.4th 1250.) Should any responsive documents in the District’s possession be withheld, you will be promptly notified of the basis for that determination and the name and title of the person responsible for that decision.

Holly McDede

July 8, 2024

The District will make all reasonable efforts to provide the requested records to you in a manner consistent with the CPRA by no later than August 30, 2024, provided that we will timely notify you if this is not possible.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.
